Application — Five Takeaways

July 30, 2017

Amos 7:10-17

1. Amos was a shepherd who also tended fruit trees, but God prepared and called him to be His prophet. Neither poverty nor riches disqualify believers from serving God.
2. Influential priests and politicians may be serving idols and destroying their nation.
3. Rather than creating worship centers to express our beliefs and ideas, God expects us to worship and serve Him and others His way according to the Bible's teachings.
4. There are consequences for a nation when a nation's religious and political leaders either mislead people or lead them to repent and return to obeying the God of the Bible.
5. Amaziah's family suffered for his turning away from God to serving an idol and a king who had become a pagan in Israel. How we lead or mislead others has consequences.
